Mr. Burton Smith, a brother of ex-Secretary Hoke Smith, announced the decidedly new discovery that "the Anglo-Saxon has always protected women without the aid of law courts, and as long as Anglo-Saxon blood flows in American veins, whether in Georgia or Massachusetts, Alabama or Ohio, assallants of women will find a short, swift and ready rope."

Lawyer Lewis may prate as he pleases about lynching being the most effectual way of preventing a repetition of offenses, but the facts are just to attempt to correct such sentiments in Georgia by statute as to attempt to overcome the fury of a cyclone or to prevent the lightning flashes from the storm cloud, then Georgia is in a very backward state of civilization. Still, the attempt should be made.
